Re: Case 25-E-0446 - Petition of Cricket Valley Energy Center, LLC; Cricket Valley Funding, LLC; Kiwoom US Power LLC; PE-US Jiminy Aggregator, L.P. and PE-US Jiminy OFLEX Blocker, LLC for a Declaratory Ruling Concerning Transfer of Ownership, or, in the Alternative, an Approval Pursuant to Section 70 of the Public Service Law.

Dear Secretary Phillips:

Pursuant to Ordering Clause 3 of the Declaratory Ruling on Transfer (“Transfer Ruling”), issued November 19, 2025, in the above-referenced proceeding, Cricket Valley Energy Center, LLC (“CVEC”) on behalf of itself and Cricket Valley Funding, LLC (“Cricket Valley Funding”), Kiwoom US Power LLC, (“Kiwoom US”), PE-US Jiminy OFLEX Blocker, LLC, (“OHA Blocker”), and PE-US Jiminy Aggregator, L.P. (“OHA Aggregator”) (collectively, the “CVEC Partners”) hereby files this annual report.

Cricket Valley Funding

Cricket Valley Funding is a wholly owned subsidiary of Olympus Power, LLC (“Olympus Power”). Olympus Power has a direct or indirect ownership or controlling interest in the electric generating facilities and other energy-related assets shown below in Table 1.

Table 1

Project	Control Area	Interest
Bridgewater Power Company, LP – Biomass generator	ISO-NE	82%
Cricket Valley Energy Center, LLC – Natural gas generator	NYISO	2.5%
Walleye Power, LLC (Bayshore) – Petcoke and gas generator	PJM	5%

Northampton Generating Company L.P. – Coal refuse generator	PJM	100%
Keystone Power, LLC ¹ - Coal generator	PJM	3.7%
Conemaugh Power, LLC ² - Coal generator	PJM	3.72%

OHA Blocker and OHA Aggregator

OHA Blocker and OHA Aggregator (collectively, “OHA Member”) are special purpose vehicles formed and wholly owned by Oak Hill Advisors, L.P. (“OHA”), to hold 100% of OHA’s indirect interests through units held upstream of CVEC. OHA is a wholly owned subsidiary of T. Rowe Price Group, Inc. (“TRPG”).³ To the best of OHA’s knowledge, as of September 30, 2025, neither TRPG nor any of its asset management subsidiaries, nor any of its managed investment funds, own, directly or indirectly, 10% or more of the voting securities of any company that has direct or indirect ownership or controls interests in electric generation or transmission assets, intrastate natural gas transportation assets, intrastate natural gas storage, distribution facilities, or physical coal supplies or access to transportation of coal supplies in New York.

Investment funds controlled and managed by TRPG and its subsidiaries hold greater than 10% of the outstanding voting securities in Chesapeake Utilities Corporation (“CUC”). The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has ruled that such ownership is non-controlling.⁴ CUC, through its wholly owned subsidiaries, owns and operates natural gas distribution networks and intrastate pipelines, including within the PJM states of Delaware, Maryland, and Ohio.

TRPG’s investment funds have passive ownership interests in publicly traded parent companies that have indirect ownership interests in electric generation and energy-related assets in NYISO, as follows: NextEra Energy Inc. (0.84%), National Grid PLC (1.22%), Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc. (1.29%), and Public Service Enterprise Group Inc. (0.14%); and interests of less than 2% in publicly traded parent companies that have indirect ownership interests in electric transmission facilities or natural gas distribution facilities in the surrounding PJM and ISO regions, including: American Electric Power Company Inc., Dominion Energy

² An Olympus Power affiliate also holds 3.5986% of Arclight’s 3% interest in Chief Power JV’s 35.11% interest in Conemaugh Power, LLC.

³ To the best of OHA’s knowledge after inquiry, the only shareholder or affiliated group of shareholders that owns or controls 10% or more of TRPG’s common stock is The Vanguard Group, Inc. (“VGI”), which owns 11.12% of TRPG’s common stock. The Commission has ruled that VGI and its affiliates’ beneficial ownership of up to 20%, in the aggregate, of the stock in electric and gas corporations does not make VGI and its affiliates electric or gas corporations because they do not have control over the electric and gas corporations. See Case 20-M-0602, Petition of The Vanguard Group, Inc. for a Declaratory Ruling Regarding Acquisition of Stock, or, in the Alternative, Approvals Pursuant to Sections 70, 83, 89-h, 100 and 222 of The Public Service Law, Order Denying Requests for Declaratory Rulings, in part, and Granting Approval to Acquire Stock Subject to Conditions (Nov. 22, 2021) at 17. Thus, VGI is not an affiliate of TRPG and VGI’s holdings in energy-related assets are not identified herein.

⁴ See, e.g., T. Rowe Price Group, Inc. et al., 192 FERC ¶ 62,019 (2025).

Inc., Duke Energy Corp., Eversource Energy, Exelon Corp., FirstEnergy Corp., New Jersey Resources Corp., NRG Energy Inc., PPL Corp., UGI Corp., Unifil Corp.; and approximately 5% in Atmos Energy Corp.

OHA Member has a 20.634% interest in CVEC, which owns the Cricket Valley Energy Center electric generating facility in the NYISO.

Kiwoom US

Neither Kiwoom US nor any of its affiliates owns, operates, or controls any electric generation facilities, electric transmission facilities (aside from, limited and discrete interconnection facilities, if any, used to connect generation assets to the grid), or essential inputs to electricity products or electric power production in New York, PJM, or ISO-NE. Kiwoom US has a 69.238% interest in CVEC.

CVEC

CVEC is a limited liability company formed under the New York Limited Liability Company Law. The Commission granted CVEC a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity for the construction of an approximately 1,000 MW combined cycle, natural gas-powered electric generating facility in the Town of Dover, New York.⁵ Other than the CVEC Partners, no other entities hold a direct or indirect ownership or controlling interest greater than 10% of CVEC. The electric generating facilities and other energy-related assets affiliated with CVEC are identified above.

Please contact the undersigned should you have any questions. Thank you.
